Student Recruitment Good Practice

Contact: Katja Lamping, Director of Student Recruitment
Your Faculty Head of Marketing & Communications

Introduction

Student recruitment good practice is informed by the QAA UK Quality Code for Higher Education, Chapter B2: Recruitment, Selection and Admission to Higher Education (QAA B2).

Process prior to application

QAA B2, Indicator 5: Recruitment activities undertaken by higher education providers assist students in making informed decisions about higher education.

1. Good practice in this context means the following:
Provision of accurate information through publication of the UCL prospectuses in print and on the web.

Actively engaging with enquirers to promote UCL as a study destination and to provide them with the information they need to convert them to high quality applicants.

options.

2. Good practice in student recruitment is based upon the collection of high quality enquirer data from prospective students, allowing prospective students to be supplied with information that is tailored to their own circumstances.
3. Enquirer data should always be collected, stored, and processed in a way that is compliant with General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Further information can be found at www.ucl.ac.uk/gdpr Providing targeted, personalised information according to the en specified requirements to deliver an excellent prospective student experience.

Sending attractive and engaging emails to enquirers via the CRM.

Inviting enquirers to relevant events and activities, e.g. open days, presentations, virtual events, and recruitment fairs.

Open Days

10. CAM organises institution-wide open days for prospective undergraduates and graduates, both in person and virtual.

The following good practice relates to Faculty and/or departmental open days.

provision of relevant information about the open day including clear instructions on how to find the venue;

a programme of events made available in advance of the open day;

information on what arrangements there may be, should parents or carers decide to accompany the visitor;

ensuring that all staff and students involved are fully aware of their responsibilities and are available at the required times and venues.

a welcome point;

well-briefed staff (academic and professional services);

representation from professional service departments, faculties, and academic departments;

an informal tour of UCL;

the opportunity to meet current students; and sending a follow-up email to attendees and non-attendees alike (these emails should have different content).

The following good practice relates to Faculty and/or departmental virtual events:

a clear indication of what students are signing up to eg presentation, Q&A etc use of appropriate platform: Zoom Webinar, Zoom Meetings and Teams Live are recommended

Clear joining instructions sent prior to the event

Use of UCL-branded material and adherence to accessibility guidelines

Well-briefed staff attending the session

The involvement of current students is highly encouraged, to allow for the student perspective

Send a follow-up email to attendees and non-attendees alike

If recording the session for future use, ensure that it is captioned

Departmental physical and virtual events should not be held in the month before institution-wide

Social Media

11. The Student Recruitment team manages the central social media accounts.

	UCL central accounts
Twitter	@ucl
Facebook	/uclofficial
Instagram	/ucl/
LinkedIn	/school/university-college-london/mycompany/
YouTube	/UCLTV

12. Where student recruitment is concerned the social media accounts are used to promote UCL as a desirable institution at which to study, as well as to connect with students and to provide them with relevant information about studying at UCL. The social media accounts are thus used for, inter alia:

- information on student life at UCL
- notifications of attendance at recruitment events
- application deadlines

15. Fee partnership agreements are approved by Student Recruitment, Admissions and Funding Committee (StRAFC) and are signed by the Chair.
16. The Student Recruitment team takes the lead on developing new scholarships and co-funding agreements with overseas organisations. The organisations with which we sign agreements will have the approval of the Global Engagement Office. The agreements will be referred to UCL Legal Services for advice on content and wording. UCL Student Funding approves the proposed process and administration of the agreement.
17. The Student Recruitment team will work with the Admissions Office to provide prospective students with all necessary documentation required for a successful scholarship application. The same is expected of all other central professional services and faculties.
18. The Student Recruitment team acts as the point of liaison between individual prospective students that are in possession of a scholarship (or in the process of applying for a scholarship) and UCL Student Funding.
19. UCL Student Funding approves UCL's tuition fee contributions to the individual students who are in receipt of a scholarship covered by a co-funding agreement.
20. Upon confirmation of the scholarships from UCL Student Funding, UCL Admissions adds the sponsor note detailing the UCL tuition fee contribution to the CAS record of the sponsored students.
21. UCL Student Funding advises UCL fees office of those students who are in receipt of a tuition fee contribution.

Embedding student recruitment good practice

22. The Student Recruitment team provides various resources in order to help embed student recruitment good practice throughout the institution:
23. The Communication and Marketing (CAM) website on the staff intranet provides a directory of key contacts for student recruitment, as well as a suite of resources for use by faculties and departments:
www.ucl.ac.uk/staff/communications-

The Community will come together to work on specific projects aimed at projects is recommended.

26. The Student Recruitment Community of Practice group is led by a member from CAM exchange best-practice advice. This is supported by a corresponding group in SharePoint and MS Teams environment which is used to report on student recruitment activities, to share market intelligence, and to exchange best-practice advice.
 27. The Student Recruitment team runs termly workshops on topics related to student recruitment.
