

Cover note for submission to negative emission technologies and the fact that we likely present an underestimate of the rates of decline of production required because we model a 50% chance of limiting warming to 1.5C.

We therefore propose the UK should transition to a zero carbon economy while only extracting O&G